COOKIES and SMALL CAKES

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

WHEN the children romp in hungry as young bears, here are some wholesome, economical delights that will not only be received with glee, but will satisfy the most ravenous appetite in a most wholesome manner.

Cookies
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract or
 1 teaspoon of 1 lemon
 4 cups flour
 2 teaspoons Royal Baking
 Powder

Cream shortening and sugar together; add milk to beaten eggs and beat again; add slowly to creamed shortening and sugar; add nutmeg and flavoring; add 2 cups flour sifted with baking powder; add enough more flour to make stiff dough. Roll out very thin on floured board; cut with cookie cutter, sprinkle with sugar, or put a raisin or a piece of English walnut in the center of each. Bake about 12 minutes in hot oven.

Cocoa Drop Cakes
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1 egg
 1/2 cup cocoa
 2 teaspoons Royal Baking
 Powder
 1/2 cup vanilla extract

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

"Bake with Royal and be Sure"

Cream shortening; add sugar and well-beaten egg; beat well and add milk slowly; sift flour, baking powder, salt and cocoa into mixture; stir until smooth, add vanilla. Put one tablespoon of batter into each greased muffin tin and bake in moderate oven about 20 minutes. Cover with boiled icing.

Orange Cakes
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1 egg
 2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons Royal Baking
 Powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon orange extract
 1 teaspoon of 1 orange

Cream shortening; add sugar slowly; beat well; add milk a little at a time; then add well-beaten egg; sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to mixture; add flavoring and grated orange rind; mix well. Bake in greased shallow tin, or individual cake tins, in hot oven 15 to 20 minutes. When cool cover with orange icing.

VAMPS OF THE DAY

American Shoe and French Slipper in the Limelight.

Present Conflict Bids Fair to Rival That of the Long and Short Skirt.

The war between the long-vamp American shoe and the stumpy little French slipper, which makes the foot appear so small, wages quite as fiercely as did last season's conflict between the long skirt of American origin and the short French one, the outcome of which was a happy compromise. As in the case of the skirt, so it is with the shoes. The French last has been so modified by our American shoemakers as to prove a real rival to the long, slender shoe.

Never has the vogue for fancy footwear been so marked as it is at the present time and never have prices been so high. The vanity of the French woman seems to culminate in her footwear. The very short skirts which continue to be fashionable seemingly afford the excuse for this wild extravagance in dressing the foot.

Stockings and shoes of almost priceless quality, exquisite design and delicate finishability make up what appears to be the most important detail of the fashionable toilette. These novelty shoes are all in low-cut design to show the stockings and the neatly turned ankles. Every one has its buckle or its strap, which in turn is elaborated with a buckle or other form of ornamentation. The instep and ankle strap and the highly decorated tongue effect afford the designers of footwear three distinct methods for the variation of their models.

VETERAN TAKES FIRST DAY OFF IN 44 YEARS

After forty-four years of adventure with the life saving service, now the United States coast guard, Capt. Herbert M. Knowles, superintendent of the Third district, is enjoying his first days of freedom from responsibilities since he joined the service in 1876. He is at Wakefield, R. I., retired on a pension, with the record for continuous duty with the coast guard. There have been 1,300 wrecks recorded in the Third district since Captain Knowles entered the service and the comparatively small loss of life is due to his alertness, daring and devotion, reports state. He enlisted as a surfman at the Point Judith, Long Island station, when twenty years old. In 1898 Secretary of the Treasury Gage, recognized his expert knowledge by putting him in command of a picked crew of life saving exhibit at the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition at Omaha. He has long been a member of the board of life saving appliances, which passes on new apparatus and he is largely responsible for the motorizing of the service. On Christmas eve, 1898, in a daring rescue off Point Judith, the storm forced him out to sea 11 miles, but he landed on Block Island. When he got back to Wakefield bells were tolling a memorial service for him and his crew.

Just Like Peacock.

Although the American redstart is a little bird only five and a half inches long, it has one trait in common with the gorgeously plumed peacock, namely, that it seems to be very fond of its handsome plumage and is continually spreading its tail feathers, says the American Forestry association, Washington. The male redstart, whose colors are red, orange and white, does not attain the black portion of its plumage on back, tail and wings until it is two years old, this part of the bird during its early life being strangely mottled. The female is grayish, yellow and white.

Lazaretto.

The words, lazaretto and lazare-house, meaning a hospital or place for the reception of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and especially the leprosy, are derived from the Italian word of like meaning, lazaretto. All are derived from Lazarus, the name of the poor leper in the parable to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke, chapter sixteen. This is the only case in the New Testament where a proper name occurs in a parable. The words derived from that proper name show the influence this parable has had on the mind of Christendom.

RETIREMENT

Retirement! What does the term really mean? When in its best sense it is seen? Experience in it we never much had; Some people declare it's a fad. But this we do know, it is often misused; Yes, more, it's shamefully abused. Oh, there are so many wrong ways to retire. By which we no wisdom acquire. Oh, pity the man who has nothing to do. Yet, often is tired and blue; Who loiters around and off sits by the store. And wishes the dull day were o'er; Or sits in the parlor in a spring-cushioned chair. And stroking his disheveled hair, Or smokes to have pleasure in retirement and ease, Or lounges and waits for a piece. His diligent wife, who off works with a broom, Is careful to have a nice room. She tells him to read, to write, or to sing. And do what happiness will bring. To us or to others or those who are blind. Or troubled in body or mind. The doctors say idleness makes one to rust. And turns him much sooner to dust. The other extreme, to overwork just to hoard. No reasonable man can afford; Nor to live on cold water and bacon and crust. 'Cause the pile he now has he cannot trust.

Do you pride yourself with the big pile you still make While sleeping or resting awake, For heirs who'll misuse it anyway, just the same. And so bring reproach on His name? Are you prone to live sumptuously, eat what you please, Retiring in pleasure and ease? Oh, feed the poor crying, ere life's race is run. Must God say: "This you have not done." Retirement is the close of probation of life, Still mixed with earth's troubles and strife. It's having employment for the Master so kind, Which old people always can find. And enjoy when the body and mind will decline, And the spirit is prone to repine. Good work to the end make the inner man strong. And make us for heaven to long. Yes, God says, "Work out your salvation and pray. Work earnestly while it is day." The hungry you've fed and the sick you have blest, So come up to heaven and rest. —Joseph Metzler, North Lima, O.

Have You Had This Experience?

We had an experience with twine last summer that should be of interest to everybody.

One of our customers had a binder that would not tie. Our trouble man who was called to fix it found the binder missing fully half the bundles, but upon examination he could see nothing wrong with the machinery. The farmer was using some 20% cent twine. It was running uneven.

Our man suggested putting in a ball of Deering Standard twine, which he did, and the binder missed only 2 bundles around an 80-acre field. Then he put the cheap twine in again, with the same result as before—about half of the bundles would be missed. Then he put the Standard back in and only 2 bundles missed around the field.

The result was that the farmer finished his crop with Standard twine. During this test no adjustment of any kind was made to the binder.

Kentland, Indiana

H. A. Reinhart & Co.

(The letter reproduced above refers to twine bought during the summer of 1919, at which time the 20% cent price per lb. was considered low for even cheap twine. The 1920 prices of all twine show material reductions over last year.)

Don't blame your binder for the misdeeds of weak, uneven, cheap twine. You wouldn't expect to get full power out of an automobile if you diluted the gasoline with water, would you? Why then should you expect satisfactory results from a binder in which you use weak, uneven twine.

Take your choice of these two bales—same amount of twine in each, but due to new way of baling, the bale at the left has 6 bales while the old style bale at the right has 10 bales. The new bale enables you to carry 60% more twine in the binder twine can than is possible with the smaller bale; bale takes up two-fifths less baling and storage space than large bale. 48 lbs. of twine, net, in both sizes.
